

Please, please, please do not allow cell phone usage in airplanes. This is one of the last refuges from incessant chatter about what to buy for Brittany's birthday, people that don't know the difference between a cell phone and a yell phone, stupid musical chimes that go unanswered, rude and obnoxious self-important people. Airline travel is already difficult at times. Please don't make things worse.